

John D. Eaton Now Head Of T. Eaton Company

Grandson of Founder Succeeds R. Y. Eaton on Retirement; O. D. Vaughan Succeeds Brother

Retirement of R. Y. Eaton from the presidency of the T. Eaton Company, Limited, and the election to that office of John David Eaton, 33-year-old son of the late Sir John Craig Eaton were announced yesterday. The grandson of the founder, Timothy Eaton, the new president assumed his duties yesterday as the head of the far-flung Eaton organization.

Also announced was the retirement of J. J. Vaughan, a vice-president and secretary-treasurer of the company, who will be succeeded by his brother, Orval D. Vaughan, as a vice-president.

Mr. J. D. Eaton addressed executives of the company yesterday, and expressed thanks for his election on behalf of himself and family. He voiced a determination to strive with all earnestness to carry out his new responsibilities in a manner worthy of the "fine example set and good traditions established by those who have preceded before me." It had fallen to his lot, said Mr. Eaton, to follow in the presidency of the company three very remarkable and outstanding men.

Mr. R. Y. Eaton announced his resignation as president and the election of Mr. J. D. Eaton at the morning meeting. An Eaton at the head of the great business enterprise is in keeping with the tradition of the company.

John David Eaton is a native of Toronto. Following his early education at Trinity College School, Port Hope, he attended Stowe School and Cambridge University, in England. Returning to Canada in 1930, he entered the service of the T. Eaton Company, Limited, and spent the next two years in acquiring a first-hand knowledge of the company's Western business, including its extensive mail-order operations in the Western Provinces.

Returning to Toronto in 1933, Mr. Eaton received his first managerial experience when he assumed supervision of the Men's Shop in the College Street store. In 1934 he was elected a director of the company, and in the same year undertook supervision of the Northern Ontario development of the company's business. The following year Mr. Eaton, after a period of general supervisory experience in the store, was transferred to manufacturing head office in Toronto, to obtain a thorough knowledge of the large manufacturing operations of the company.

In 1935 Mr. Eaton became head of the Merchandise Office in Toronto, which office exercises supervision of all buying and selling operations of the company and its subsidiaries throughout Canada. Elected a vice-president in 1937, he has gradually undertaken increased responsibility in the direction of the company and the carrying on of its traditions.

Extensive Traveller.

An extensive traveller in Canada as well as overseas, the new president has become thoroughly familiar, from personal observation, with every phase of the company's business from coast to coast and in its buying centres abroad. At an early stage in his career he "took to the air" in order to facilitate travelling in Canada, acquiring first a single-motored plane, and later a twin-engined machine, in which he has travelled many thousands of miles. At the outbreak of war, however, he donated his plane to the Government for war service.

Mr. Eaton was married in 1933 to Miss Signy Stephenson of Winnipeg, and they have three children, John Craig, Fredrick Stefan and Thor Edgar. A great devotee of outdoor sports, he counts yachting, fishing and hunting among his favorite pastimes.

The retiring president, Mr. R. Y. Eaton, who had for 15 years occupied the position of firm vice-president, assumed the presidency and general management in April, 1922, immediately after the death of Sir John.

45 Years With Firm.

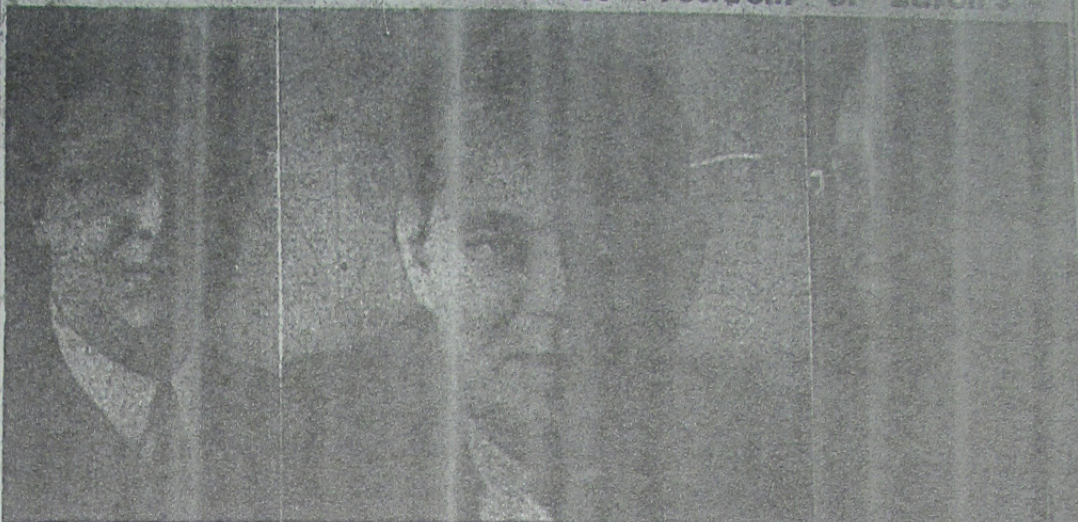

A nephew of the late Timothy Eaton, "Mr. R. Y." as he is familiarly known among executives of the company, was born in 1875 at Killarney, County Antrim, Ireland. At the age of 22 he was selected as promising executive material by his famous relative, and entered the service of the company in 1897 as a member of the buying staff in London, Eng. In 1899 he was transferred to the Paris office, remaining there until 1902, when he was moved to the company's headquarters in Toronto. Appointed secretary in 1904, Mr. R. Y. Eaton became vice-president in 1907, which office he held until he succeeded Sir John Eaton as president. Mr. Eaton celebrated a few months ago the completion of 45 years' service with the company.

Mr. J. J. Vaughan, who retires from active service, has a long record with the organization. He joined the company in 1903, became secretary in 1907, and was elected a director in 1917. The following year he became secretary-treasurer of the company and was elected a vice-president in 1933. A close personal friend and confidant of the late Sir John Eaton, Mr. Vaughan throughout his career has been closely associated with the financial affairs of the company, and with all matters connected with administration and company policy.

Mme. Huntley Scores Piano Concert Triumph

By HECTOR CHARLESWORTH

Last night's concert of the Hart House Quartet was one of the most notable of the present season, because it marked the re-appearance in Toronto after some years' absence of one of the very finest of all Canadian pianists, Madame Gertrude Huntley of Victoria. She was heard with the Hart House personnel in one of the most captivating of all chamber works, Schumann's Quintet in E flat major, opus 44; and on its conclusion received an immense ovation from a very musical audience.

Madame Huntley, as some readers are aware, is a native of St. Thomas, who, as a very young girl, won approval in Paris, while a pupil of the famous pianist and composer, Moszkowski. In subsequent years she was associated with the great pianist, Leopold Chikowsky. From the outset of her career she was renowned for exquisite softness and beauty of touch and flawless fluency in finger technique. These qualities she retains, but with maturity she has gained in authority and breadth. Last night the poetic elegance of her phrasing and the elan with which she led her associates in Schumann's noble work were extraordinary.

The Quintet was in its day unique, because Schumann was the actual originator of the form in which it is cast, a combination of piano, violin and string quartet. It has none of the infirmity which marks some of his other extended works, and progresses from first to last with a glorious emotional urge and wealth of harmonic devices. It is a true ensemble piece because every instrumentalist gets opportunities for memorable passage work; and the fervor of its tutti episodes is thrilling. Evidently there had been careful rehearsal, for the responses were well-nigh perfect, and the string performers justly shared in the pianist's triumph.

The Schumann work was preceded by two notable chamber works, one classical, the other romantic and modern. Mendelssohn's Quartet in E flat major, as a program note said, has been described as "a pearl of musical literature, original and perfect in form." It is full of melody, both gay and pensive, and the second movement, a pleasant and vivacious canzonetta with tricky pian-

Dohnanyi. One does not recall ever having heard a work by Dohnanyi that was not distinguished and fascinating, and this composition is one of his best. It is spontaneous and fresh in quality, rich in melody developed with sparkling modern technical devices.

Christmas will be brighter and happier for hundreds of orphans in Toronto because of an entertainment staged last night by the Knights of Columbus to raise money for an Orphans' Christmas Tree. The variety revue was presented by a committee headed by Vincent P. Reid. Fourteen institutions and organizations which care for orphaned youngsters will benefit. *Margaret Eaton School Merged
With University of Toronto*

Fine Memorial College Grows in Importance

Lozely in long white gowns, twenty-six graduates received diplomas and awards at the last graduation exercises of historic Margaret Nelson School, in Eaton Auditorium Friday. Very Rev. C. E. Riley presided, and Rev. D. A. MacLennan was the speaker.

The Margaret Eaton School has become part of the University of Toronto, through amalgamation with the School of Physical and Health Education. Dr. E. Stanley Ryerson, assistant Dean of Medicine, is director of the new school, and Miss Florence Somers, director of Margaret Eaton for many years; Miss Dorothy Jackson, Miss Shirley Naylor, teaching staff members, and Miss Charlotte Layton, secretary.

Miss Somers reviewed the history of the school, begun in 1905, as the "Margaret Eaton School of Literature and Expression," for which Mrs. Timothy Eaton gave the money to build the first school on North Street.

Due to Bay Street extension, that school was closed, and later reopened in the remodelled Margaret Eaton Hall, 415 Yonge Street. Through the courtesy of the T. Eaton Company this building will continue to be used by the new school for the duration of the war, and for the next year at least, the residence at 99 St. George Street will be the residence of women students of the new school.

Miss Somers noted that since the first graduation in 1926, 285 graduates have gone from the school, and 93 are teaching in universities, schools and recreational centres. Ten are in uniform.

While the name is not attached to the new school, the spirit and tradition of "Margaret Eaton" will maintain, she said. In the new women's building of the University—the centre of women's physical education, there will be a "Margaret Eaton" library, containing many of the literary treasures of the original school. There will be two annual scholarships of $500 each, with gold medals, at graduation, bearing the name of Margaret Eaton. Miss Mary G. Hamilton, who for twenty-four years guided the changing fortunes of physical education, is continuing

U.C. Dominion Sessions at Emmanuel All Week

"Pioneering Again" is the theme of the annual meeting of the Annuals' Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada, which will open in Emmanuel College Monday. President Mrs. L. F. Stephens, Hamilton, will preside. The conference will continue all week.

Sessions will be of great significance for those wishing to learn how the United Church is handling some of its critical community problems and contributing to building a co-operative world based on Christian principles. Reports will embrace work among Canadian Chinese and Japanese, Indian Settlements, and outpost hospitals. Foreign missionaries will describe "The Amazing Chinese," open doors in Trinidad, developments in Japan and Korea. Miss Irene Stewart, principal of the Indore Girls' High School, Central India, and Miss Etta Campbell, formerly of Newfoundland, will speak.

Delegates will consider new approaches to their problems and the resume of work of the last year will be followed by an open forum. Urgent matters will include the five-year plan of new organizations; responsibility of home missions toward Japanese Canadians; responsibility for economic security and Christian education; preparation for new situation in world missions after the war.

Dr. D. J. Fleming, professor of missions at Union Theological Seminary, New York, will give a series of addresses on "Missions in the Midst of War—Why and How." Professor Kirkconnell, McMaster University, will speak on "The New Canadian in Our National Life" and "Home Missions and the New Canadian."

Delegates from the conference branches will include: Alberta, Mrs. Fred Miller, Mrs. William Kemm, Mrs. A. D. Richard; Bay of Quinte, Miss Eliza Duncanson, Mrs. S. J. Gray, Mrs. J. A. "To make the most of our best for the sake of others" is the duty and responsibility of every one, but especially those to whom the privileges of higher learning have been extended, said Mr. MacLennan in extending felicitations to graduates.

"It ought to be part of the religion of a man or woman to see that his country is well governed," said the speaker. "It must be the accepted duty of every citizen of a democratic country to make the democratic system work. Headaches and heartaches may be the reward of active participation in this business, but no matter!"

In wishing them goodspeed and every blessing, Dean Riley bade the graduates remember that, important as are physical fitness and a healthy body, a "sound body is but an instrument to a sound mind and a sound soul" and that they must use all their knowledge and skill for the glory of God and the benefit of mankind.

Regretful departure from their alma mater, at this, the last graduation, was the theme of the masterly valedictory given by Miss Dorothy Gray. Beautiful choral music was given by the student body.

A murmur of joy went up from graduates when a cable received from Joan Nesta Fawcett, graduate in absentia, reported her safe arrival in India.

"CIRCLE BAR" FOURTH COLUMN

By J. V. McAra

THERE has been only one public reason in the past why municipalities have imposed restrictions as regards hours of sale upon shopkeepers. That is a recognition that clerks might be overworked. If one store remained open until midnight it had an obvious advantage over the owner of the neighborhood store that closed at nightfall. The clerk in that store had the same obvious disadvantage compared with the clerk who could go home at six or seven. Except as regards hours of employees we do not see the justification of restrictions.

M. EATON STUDENTS RETURNED SOLDIERS DEMONSTRATE WORK FETED AT PARTIES

'Fitness on Home Front' Is Timely Number

The women students of Margaret Eaton School and of the School of Physical and Health Education of the University of Toronto gave a demonstration in the gymnasium of the former school on Saturday evening, attended by a large audience.
Apparatus work on boom, ropes, horse, box, bar and flying ring, performed by the second, third and fourth year girls of the university and Margaret Eaton students, opened the program, followed by an interesting gymnastics table given by the first year girls.

Specially appropriate to the times was a number entitled "Fitness on the Home Front," showing agility in the nursery, blackout playtime, mobilization of energy and conservation through relaxation. Marching tactics done by the school seniors with the precision and finish of an army precision squad showed thorough training and discipline of movement. In contrast, the games of rink and hatpin baseball revealed abandon and enthusiasm of whole-hearted sport.

Several dancing numbers gave color and rhythm to the program;
tap, folk and recreational dancing and two numbers in the modern dance, "Dance Technique," and "We Give You a Toast," the last an original composition by the Margaret Eaton School Dance Club, directed by Mrs. E. P. S. Allen. The demonstration was under the direction of Miss Florence A. Somers, Miss Jean Forster, Miss D. N. R. Jackson and Miss Shirley Naylor.
